The practice of using bloodhounds on the slightest provocation to chase suspects will be given a black eye.

Richmond Car Line Sold at Auction.
Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

RICHMOND, Ind., Sept. 14.—This morning the early train brought from St. Louis to this city Messrs. S. A. Fordyce, B. F. Hobart, A. A. Sedon, Charles Tompkins and C. H. Smith. They all came here on important business relative to the sale of the street-railway plant. Messrs. Hobart and Fordyce are the owners of the plant, which is the private property of Colonel Kerens, of St. Louis, and who is also a bondholder. The three gentlemen hold, in the aggregate, $100,000 worth of the railway bonds. Mr. Tompkins is the secretary of the Union Trust Company, which holds the remainder of the bonds—about $50,000 worth. Mr. Sedon was here as the legal representative of the bondholders, and they were also represented by Burchenal & Rupe, of this city. W. L. Taylor, of Indianapolis, the attorney for the Western Electric Company, was also here, in the interest of his company, which is still desirous of getting out of the wreck of the road the $20,000 that is owing it. This is the first time the road has been sold by the sheriff to satisfy an execution in favor of the bondholders, the court having decided some time ago that the road was the prior one. Before the line proper was knocked off some residence property included in it was sold to Mr. Fordyce for $5,000, he bidding it for the bondholders. On the line proper R. A. Jackson, of this city, on behalf of the bondholders of the old company, started the bidding at $40,000, which amount he raised to $50,000. Mr. Fordyce bid $100,000, and the line was sold to him, which means that the bondholders got it, his bid representing them. There are several combinations among the bondholders of the plant, and it is understood that it will soon be purchased from the bondholders.

KOKOMO, Ind., Sept. 14.—Thomas Jefferson Hosier, an old "character" of this city, had a rough experience yesterday. The first leg demonstrated the impracticability of the venture. He came crashing down through the foliage, falling on the sharp palings of the fence. The iron fence, which he had jumped into the fleshest part of his thigh, remaining impaled there until he could be rescued. Several stitches were sown, and the lacerated flesh. Hosier will make no further attempt to play squirrel.

In the third heat of the fourth race, Nat Goodwin, driven by McMackin, fell from exhaustion at the half mile and was disqualified. There was some excitement caused at the corner of Washington street and Kentucky avenue, early this morning, by the appearance of a nude man. He came walking up Kentucky avenue as unconcerned as though he were fully dressed. When questioned by police officers, it was learned that his name was Simon Bunte, and that he was delirious. He acknowledged that he had once been confined in an insane asylum. He was sent to the police station. Bunte appeared nude, though, nude about a year ago, but at that time it was thought that he was walking in his sleep. He was formerly the wholesale liquor business in this city.
